Alumni Executive Council Meeting Secretary's Minutes

Saturday, October 7, 1967, Cogswell Hall Auditorium

The meeting of the Executive Council of the General Alumni Association of Indiana University of Pennsylvania was held on Saturday, October 7, in Cogswell Hall Auditorium at 9:30 a.m. with the President, Arthur F. Nicholson, presiding.

At Dr. Nicholson's request, Miss Catharine Taylor gave a resume of the minutes of the May 1967 alumni meeting.

Miss Mary L. Esch presented the Treasurer's Report, including a report on the Annual Giving Fund. This report follows in the Financial Statement.

President Nicholson called on Mrs. Sanford for a report on the August 1967 workshop. Mrs. Sanford stated that next year, the third year for the workshop, she feels her hopes for a larger attendance will be realized but only with more publicity which should begin at this time thru all members of the Association. Dr. Nicholson added that each unit should endeavor to send delegates to the workshop next year, August 1968.

Mrs. Sanford reported the two main areas of concentration at the 1967 workshop were the University Foundation which Dr. Leach very ably discussed, and ASCO, which was presented by Don Rich of Communications Services Incorporated. She stated that the Action Committee had no further recommendations but that they would meet soon and develop plans on some of the most important points which have not yet been implemented. These include division of the State into districts, expansion of units, and forming of additional units. Mrs. Audrey Graham added that to be "Indiana Trained" is to instill leadership and stated that we should make every effort to attract and interest young people in joining and becoming active in the Alumni Association.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, esteemed President of the University, spoke to the group. He thanked the alumni and their friends for the Weyandt Hall and McManus Fountains. He said that the University Foundation was now a reality and expressed his thanks to Dr. Charles D. Leach, "his right arm," in forming this very important corporate structure which has a twelve member Board of Directors.

Dr. Pratt stated that the university has an enrollment of over 7,000 full-time undergraduate students and 97 new professors on campus this year. He reported on the future plans for the university including construction of a Learning and Research Center, a new eight-story dormitory complex for men, the removal of the railroad tracks and the placing of the mall which will enhance the campus. He stated that Mr. Hoover, the architect, will donate a fountain to the men's dormitory complex; the present plan will enlarge the campus to 200 acres, 130 of which will be land from the county home farm (but not the building); and, by 1980, enrollment will probably be 15,000. Dr. Pratt stated that progress in academic affairs was continuing with the School of Health Services being the most recent and eighth school of the university; that the Department of Law Enforcement offers a four year program; and that the establishment of a two year medical school is in progress.

Mrs. Johnson stated that the Annual Giving Fund had been begun in 1961 with contributions of less than $3,000 and now, six years later, in 1967, the annual contributions total over $9,000, and that the goal for 1968 is $15,000. Mrs. Johnson remarked that the alumni are in part responsible for the present plan to retain the main section of John Sutton Hall. She moved that the association reserve $7,000 to $10,000 for a carillon to be placed in the tower at the appropriate time, and also give an additional $3,000 to the University Foundation, motion seconded by Mrs. Bessie Wherry Noe, and passed.

Mr. Samuel F. Furguele, editor of the Alumni News Bulletin, announced that sending the bulletin to all Indiana graduates has resulted in a much greater number of news items being sent to him for inclusion in the publication. A second result, confirmed by Mary L. Esch, is that additional funds are being received by the Alumni Association from the graduates.

As the Alumni Association's representative to the Council of Alumni Associations of the Fourteen State Institutions of Higher Learning, Mr. Furguele briefly reviewed the organization's history and explained how the Association of State College Organizations (ASCO) came into being. The latter organization, he explained, is composed, not only of the Council of Alumni Associations, but also of the Boards of Trustees, the Student Governments Association, the Association of State College and University Faculties, the Board of Presidents, and an Advisory Council for the 14 state-owned institutions.

He then reported the reaction of ASCO to a request from Indiana for adoption of a Resolution which would recognize Indiana's present status and support the institution's continued growth and development, presented at a meeting of ASCO on September 23, 1967.

Because all members of ASCO were not prepared to vote on the Resolution at this meeting, Mr. Furguele explained that copies of the Resolution were distributed to the members for further study and suggested that it might be re-submitted for action at a meeting scheduled for January, 1968.

In line with action recently adopted by the Indiana Student Government Association and the Indiana Faculty Association, Mr. Furguele moved that the Indiana General Alumni Association refrain from paying dues to the State organizations until such time as their position on Indiana's status is further clarified. Motion seconded by Miss Mary L. Esch and, after considerable discussion, duly passed.

Dr. Charles D. Leach reported on the University Foundation. He read a summary of the activities of the West Virginia University Foundation and said he hopes to see Indiana University engage in such activities. He stated that there are four segments of the University Foundation Board of Directors, including three members each from (1) the Board of Trustees, (2) the faculty, (3) the administration, and (4) the General Alumni Association.

Dr. Nicholson called on Miss Catharine Taylor who presented a slate of directors from the alumni association for the University Foundation:

Two Year Term — Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson

Four Year Term — Mrs. H. E. Sanford

Six Year Term — Mrs. Ward Johnson

Dr. Nicholson asked for nominations from the floor, Mr. John Varner moved that the nominations be closed, motion seconded by Mrs. Audrey Graham. The secretary was then instructed to cast the ballot for the above named directors. Dr. Nicholson stated that these people would work in the interests of the Foundation and the alumni association.

Under new business, Mr. John Varner moved that the alumni association plan a testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Willis E. Pratt to be held during Swing-Out weekend, 1968, motion seconded by Miss Catharine Taylor and passed.

Dr. Laughlin announced that a "Keg Party" would be held in Foster Hall Lounge from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., and added that he hoped this would become one of the alumni activities in the future.

Mrs. Bessie Wherry Noe suggested that the association might consider changing the name of "unit" to "chapter." Dr. Nicholson stated that a study of this recommendation would be made at the August 1968 Annual Workshop.

Dr. Nicholson introduced Mr. George K. Seacrist, President of the Faculty Association; Dr. James Laughlin, President of the Campus Alumni Unit; and Mr. John Varner, President of the Indiana Alumni Unit. He also announced the dedication of the fountains at the Rose Brennan McManus Memorial Fountain immediately following the meeting.

President Nicholson called for other old or new business, then asked for a motion that the meeting be adjourned. Mr. Furguele made the motion, seconded by Mr. Varner, and the meeting adjourned at 11:15 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Catharine Taylor, Secretary

Three Members of IUP Alumni Elected as Foundation Directors

Three alumni of Indiana University of Pennsylvania were elected as directors of the newly-formed University Foundation at a recent meeting of the Executive Council of the University's General Alumni Association.

Elected to a six year term to the Board was Mrs. Ward C. Johnson of Indiana; four year term, Mrs. Flossie Wagner Sanford of Pittsburgh; two year term, Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson of Indiana, who presently serves as president of the General Alumni Association.

At the same meeting Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, reviewed some of the changes which the institution had undergone during the past year.

He also outlined plans for the further development of the University during the years immediately ahead.

Included in these plans, Dr. Pratt stated, is a general expansion of the campus to approximately 200 acres, 130 of which will be land from the County Home Farm, but will exclude the home presently situated on the property.

Enrollment will reach approximately 15,000 by 1980, he explained, and progress in academic affairs will continue to be made. Evidence of academic growth, he pointed out, includes a School of Health Services, which began operation this fall, a four year program in law enforcement already established, and a two year medical program also planned.

A report of the Alumni Association's Annual Giving Program by Mrs. Ward C. Johnson showed a 300% increase in the amount of giving. This year, she said, alumni contributed over $9,000 and stated that next year's goal was $15,000.

The Executive Council also approved the expenditure of up to $10,000 for the installation of a carillon in the John Sutton Hall Tower. An additional $3,000 was voted as a further contribution to the University Foundation, $1,000 having been given earlier this year.

Plans were also approved at the meeting for a testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Willis E. Pratt in recognition of his 20 years as president of the University, to be held in connection with Swing-Out Weekend, 1968.

Fulltime Undergraduate Enrollment Approaches 7000 For Current Year

With fulltime undergraduate enrollment now approaching the 7000 mark and total enrollment in all categories now past 8500, Indiana University of Pennsylvania has enrolled for the current 1967-68 academic year over 1000 students more than at the same time last year.

Fulltime undergraduate enrollment is now listed at 6933 students, with 6181 of that number on the main campus in Indiana, 467 at the Armstrong County Center in Kittanning and 285 at the Punxsutawney Center. There is a total of 3905 women enrolled compared with 3028 men.

In addition to the undergraduate enrollment there are 839 graduate students (85 fulltime) presently enrolled in their first semester classes, 25 student nurses and 571 part time undergraduate students. There are also 80 students in the evening programs and 175 community-university course students.

This brings the grand total of all students in all divisions and programs to 8623, compared with a corresponding total of 7529 enrollees last year. It is virtually certain that this total of more than 8500 would include Indiana University among the five largest colleges and universities in Pennsylvania.

Included in the undergraduate enrollment figure is a current freshman class of 2284 students, which includes 1727 now studying at the main campus, 557 at the Armstrong County and Punxsutawney Centers but not 247 who began their academic program during the summer and who will resume their studies in January.

This particular freshman class is high not only in terms of number but also of ability. A total of 93% of the 1727 students on the main campus have come from the top two fifths of their high school class, with 70% from the first fifth.

The cumulative total of 8623 students represents students from 65 of the 68 counties in Pennsylvania; the only counties which have enrolled no students at Indiana are Fulton, Sullivan and Wyoming. There are in addition 68 students from states other than Pennsylvania and 23 from foreign countries.

Foreign countries represented are Uganda in Africa, Korea, the Philipines, Guatemala, Vietnam, Japan, Chile, China, the Netherlands, Argentina, Cyprus, Ecuador, Sierra Leone, Hong Kong, Trinidad, Republic of South Africa, Thailand, Germany, Swaziland and Colombia.

The growing enrollment at Indiana is further seen in the numbers listed for the respective classes. In addition to the 2284 freshman, there are 2031 sophomores, 1459 juniors and 1159 seniors. Thus in 1968 Indiana will graduate its first senior class of more than 1000 students.

Although just a few years ago Indiana was almost totally a teacher-training school (its School of Education still enrolls the highest number at 3531) there are also 1564 students in the School of Arts and Sciences, 655 in Fine Arts, 637 in Business and 546 in Home Economics.

Best estimates available show that at least 88% of the total student body resides either on campus or in the town of Indiana. Of the more than 6900 undergraduates enrolled, only 791 are permanent residents of Indiana County.

Summer school enrollment for 1967 also set new highs with figures reported as follows: pre-session — 1696 undergraduate, 701 graduate students; main session — 1907 undergraduate, 967 graduate; post-session — 1481 undergraduate, 565 graduate.

O'Toole Appointed To Executive Post In U. S. Post Office Department

James L. O'Toole, 1941, and until recently, secretary of the IUP Board of Trustees, has been appointed to an executive position in the Post Office Department's Bureau of Operations. Announcement of his appointment was made by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien at the 63rd Annual Convention of the National Association Postmasters of the United States (NAPUS), held recently at San Juan, Puerto Rico. He also recently completed a term as president of the Postmasters Association.

As Executive Assistant to William McMillan, Assistant Postmaster General for Operations, Mr. O'Toole will supervise the work of the Bureau's fiscal control offices and the administrative office. He will also handle the Bureau's work on congressional liaison, personal matters, civil defense, contract compliance, and the equal employment opportunity program. The position is at the GS-16 salary level and will be effective next month.

Mr. O'Toole has been a postmaster for 17 years and has been President of NAPUS, which has 30,000 members, for two years. A native of Sharon, he is 50 years old.

After graduating from Sharon High School, he earned a degree from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1941, Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., granted him a law degree in 1948.

Mr. O'Toole served four years in World War II as an instructor in the Navy Air Corps. He was discharged as a senior lieutenant. He taught briefly at the University of Maryland and served as a census supervisor for the Department of Commerce in 1949 and 1950.

Aside from a long list of duties for the postmasters' association, Mr. O'Toole has also been extremely active in civic work, including former chairman and now vice-chairman of the Sharon Redevelopment Authority, former president of the Sharon Kiwanis Club, and a member of the board of directors of several charities.

His wife, the former Jean R. O'Hara (Business Education 1942), is a high school teacher. Their three sons are James, who was discharged from the Army in September; Richard, a Sharon High School senior, and Robert, a tenth grader.

Financial Aid To IUP Students To Exceed Three Million Dollars

Financial aid granted to students of Indiana University of Pennsylvania will exceed the $3 million figure this year, according to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the university. This total represents a substantial rise over that of past years, and a more than $1 million rise over last year.

At the present time a grand total of $2,982,243 has been distributed through George W. Murdoch, Director of Financial Aids, to approximately 4500 students receiving 5333 grants of various types for an average of $559 per grant. Additional aid will be granted during the year in the amount of another half million dollars.

Included in this amount are $1,045,215 in scholarships, $1,171,887 in loans, $100,100 in grants and $665,041 for student employment. The vast part of these funds come from federal ($723,579) and state ($2,112,107) funds, with $146,537 in private funds administered directly or through the university.

This total amount of financial aid granted compares to last year's figure of $1,817,302 as of October 1 and thus represents a total increase of $1,164,941, or 64%. There have been 1345 more grants awarded this year than last, with 3988 distributed then.

Scholarships have risen $510,728 from $534,487, or a rise of 95%. Loans are up $425,100 from $746,700 (a 57% increase), while grants are $60,100 above last year's $40,000 (a full 150% rise). State aid of all types is $960,962 above last year's $1,151,145, an increase of 84%.

In viewing the reasons for this dramatic rise in financial aid now being made available to university students, Murdoch cites that more money is now being granted from various federal and state sources and that more information is being given high school students on the various programs open to them.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania, however, is always seeking ways in which to augment these funds either through expanded grants from present sources or through new sources entirely. With a student body of more than 6900 students, the average amount per student now approximates $430.

Greatest single source of aid comes from scholarships granted by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) to the extent of $900,965 to a total of 1675 students for an average of $537 per student receiving such aid.

This is followed by PHEAA loans of $883,580 granted to 1022 students for an average loan of $865.

Students from low income families are eligible for student employment under the College Work-Study Program in which the federal government provides 90% of the funds. A total of 512 students are now receiving $337,479 for an average of $640.

Along with this program is the university employment program financed through state funds; there is no definite financial standard of eligibility here. At present 457 students are earning $255,562 for an average of $559.

Graduate assistantships have been made possible at Indiana University for the first time this year, with a total of 51 such graduate students awarded $72,000 in aid for an average of $1412 per grant. These are made available through state funds.

National Defense Education Act loans account for $286,000 distributed to 806 students for an average of $355. This program includes the feature of a tenth of the total loan being cancelled for each year the student is in the teaching profession up to a full half of the loan.

Various scholarships granted by business firms, service clubs, churches, education associations, parent-teacher associations, fraternal organizations and high school student councils as well as other sources total $99,275 now received by 330 students for an average of $301, with more still coming in.

University loans administered through the Office of Financial Aid with funds furnished by private groups similar in nature to those sponsoring scholarships or by individual alumni now total $2307 circulated to 15 students for an average loan of $154.

Educational Opportunity Grants, scholarships given to exceptionally needy students by the university making use of federal funds as part of the current administration's anti-poverty program, amount to $100,100 granted to 315 students for an average of $318; that number is up 145 from 170 or 85%.

University scholarships, various awards furnished by area business firms, foundations, community and campus organizations, honorary and social fraternities and certain individuals, amount to $44,975 granted to 150 students for an average of $300.

Four DPI Officials Visit Campus

Four officials of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction recently visited the Indiana University of Pennsylvania for the purpose of gathering field data which would help them evaluate the proposed campus expansion plan as approved by the University Board of Trustees and the State Art Commission.

The plans had previously been submitted to the Department of Public Instruction for their review and approval.

Among those visiting the Indiana campus were Dr. Frederic K. Miller, Commissioner for Higher Education, Dr. George Hoffman, Director of the Bureau of State Colleges and Universities, Dr. Carl Krathwohl, Director of the Bureau of Institutional Studies, and Mr. John Mowery, Director of the Bureau of Architectural Services.

During their visit the group toured Weyandt Hall Science Complex, the Student Union, the Computer Center, Fisher Auditorium and several of the recently constructed private dormitories. Particular attention was paid to land acquisition which would be needed to carry out IUP's expansion program during the 1970's.

Indiana Initiates Nursing Program In Cooperation With Latrobe Hospital

Indiana University of Pennsylvania in cooperation with the Latrobe Area Hospital, Latrobe, Pennsylvania, has developed a baccalaureate degree program in nursing to be initiated in September of 1968. This program is focused around the requirements of the Pennsylvania State Board of Nursing Education and Licensure and the Department of Public Instruction. Graduates of the curriculum will be granted the degree, Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

The freshman and sophomore years will be devoted primarily to a liberal arts education curriculum at the Indiana University of Pennsylvania campus. Clinical experiences in all phases of patient care will be provided at Latrobe Area Hospital for one summer session, and during the junior and senior years.

The baccalaureate program in nursing at Indiana University of Pennsylvania reflects the rapid and imaginative growth in quality programs at the University. It also follows current trends of transferring all educational programs to facilities whose prime concern is education.

Since the quality of nursing care is influenced by the knowledge and skills of the practitioners giving that care, a program centered on increasing critical thinking skills is necessary. Graduates of such a program can be expected to provide the leadership necessary to direct the activities of the nursing team giving patient care services.

Once the academic foundation has been built, emphasis is then placed on applying the knowledge in a hospital setting. The junior and senior years will be concerned with actual clinical experiences in giving patient care services in medical-surgical, pediatric, obstetrical and psychiatric areas.

A 255-bed hospital with modern medical facilities, Latrobe Area Hospital is recognized nationally by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Its teaching program includes schools for professional and practical nurses, laboratory technicians and nurse-anesthetists.

The heart of the nursing program is a newly-remodeled, three-story residence building on the campus adjacent to the hospital. Each student has an individual room that is completely furnished and attractively decorated with rugs and draperies.

The building also contains lounges, recreation areas, reception rooms, library, kitchenette, snack bar, and laundry, as well as many of the hospital's educational facilities. A passageway connects with the hospital for use in inclement weather.

The educational unit of the hospital occupies much of the entire ground floor in the residence. Facilities include three large classrooms, a seminar room, conference rooms in clinical areas, and a simulated hospital nursing unit classroom.

An invaluable part of the student's learning experiences will come in the hospital library, located in a spacious, well-lighted, and newly-remodeled room on the ground floor of the residence. Both professional and supplemental books and periodicals are added yearly to the constantly expanding library resources. Fictional and biographical works also are available for lighter reading. The library's entire setting is designed to encourage students to read — for profit and for pleasure. The library is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and on weekends by arrangement with the librarian.

Supplementing the large library are several smaller libraries on each clinical unit of the hospital as well as the medical staff library. These provide quick reference sources while the student is caring for patients.

Persons wishing additional information may write to: Dr. John Chellman, Dean, School of Health Services, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Pennsylvania 15701.

Dr. Pratt Named Foundation President; Other Officers, Directors Also Chosen

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, was elected president of the Foundation for Indiana University of Pennsylvania at the organization meeting of the newly-formed Foundation held October 20, 1967.

Other officers elected were Dr. John E. Davis, vice president, Dr. Charles D. Leach, secretary, and Mr. Harold C. McCormick, treasurer. Mr. Lawrence Bergman was elected executive and John S. Fisher solicitor.

Directors of the Foundation elected at the meeting included Miss Mary Alice St. Clair, Dr. John E. Davis and Mr. Joseph W. Serene, members of the University Board of Trustees; Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson, Mrs. Flossie Wagner Sanford, and Mrs. Sara Bevan Johnson, alumni members; Mr. James E. Payne, Mr. Charles A. Davis and Miss Jane S. Mervine, faculty members; and Dr. Willis E. Pratt, Dr. Charles D. Leach and Mr. Samuel F. Furguele, administrative officers of the University.

St. Clair, Nicholson and Payne were elected to two-year terms, J. Davis, Sanford and C. Davis — four year terms, and Serene, Johnson and Mervine — six years. Dr. Pratt, Dr. Leach and Mr. Furguele were elected ex-officio members of the Foundation Board.

Also elected was an executive committee composed of Dr. Pratt, Dr. Davis, Dr. Nicholson, Dr. Leach, and Miss Mervine. One member to this body was elected from each of the four groups which comprise the Board of Directors plus the president of the Board.

The directors also accepted the Articles of Incorporation and adopted the By-Laws of the non-profit corporation.

In addition, The Savings and Trust Company, the First National Bank, the Farmers Bank and Trust Company (all of Indiana) and the Homer City State Bank were designated depositories for corporate funds.

Other business conducted at the initial meeting of the Foundation included the acceptance of $4000 recently given to the corporation by the General Alumni Association of the University and the establishing of the day preceding Alumni Day and Homecoming Day, respectively, as regular meeting dates of the Board of Directors.

Admissions For Boarding Women Closed For Fall Semester 1968

Indiana University of Pennsylvania is now closed for the consideration of acceptance of any additional women boarding entrants for the fall semester of the 1968-69 academic year at the main campus in Indiana, according to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the University.

However, applications for admission to either the Punxsutawney or Armstrong County in Kittanning Centers will still be considered for both boarding and commuting women prospective students, and applications for commuting women students at the main campus are still being accepted.

Such early closure for women students is made necessary by the great number of qualified candidates who have already applied and are now under consideration. However, applications from men wishing to enroll at either the main campus or the two centers are also still being accepted.

Three IUP Faculty Members Awarded Research Fellowships

Three faculty members of Indiana University of Pennsylvania — Dr. Francis W. Liegey of the Biology Department, Dr. Stanford L. Tackett of the Chemistry Department and Dr. Robert C. Vowels of the Economics Department — have been awarded summer research fellowships for the 1968 summer sessions at Indiana.

According to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the university, these are the first such research fellowships awarded by the university. They provide that the designated faculty members shall receive full salary plus expenses for the period of the fellowship.

The awards were granted on a competitive basis from a total of 19 applications reviewed by a special Research Committee. The three finally selected were judged to have the highest merit as potential research activities.

Dr. Liegey will investigate the oxidation of ferrous iron by several strains of bacteria. The chief purpose of his study will be to elucidate the mechanism by which "Ferrobacillus ferroxidans," a microorganism which has been isolated from acid mine water, dissimilates iron.

Dr. Liegey plans to isolate the enzyme system associated with the oxidation of ferrous iron and the electron transfer link between the iron and the cell. This study is expected to uncover information regarding the role of bacteria in the production of acid mine water.

Research planned by Dr. Tackett involves the separation of the metallic phases of iron meteorites by an electrolytic dissolving process. Meteorites are useful in studying the solid earth because they are believed to consist of primitive solid material similar to that from which the earth was originally formed.

Investigating the chemical composition and phase structure of meteorites can lead to a better understanding of the age, origin and chemical nature of the earth and perhaps of the solar system.

Indiana County will receive close scrutiny in Dr. Vowels' study of economic trends as he plans to examine area post-World War II business and employment developments in historical perspective. The impact of selected segments of local industry, including the impact of university growth, on the level of county economic activity will be estimated.

Dr. Vowels hopes to provide a better understanding of an economy previously dominated by mining and now assumed to be in a state of economic transition and to show how time series data can be used to analyze the economic activity of a given local area.

Dr. Liegey has been a member of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania faculty since 1962, while Dr. Tackett has been teaching at Indiana since 1966 and Dr. Vowels since 1963. All three have brought rich and varied backgrounds and experiences to the university community.

Before coming to Indiana, Dr. Liegey had taught biology for a total of 14 years at St. Bonaventure University from 1948 to 1962. He received bachelor of science and master of science degrees in biology as well as a doctor of philosophy degree in microbiology at St. Bonaventure.

Also completing graduate work at the Institute of Nuclear Research in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, Dr. Liegey has been a research associate with Dorn Laboratory for Medical Research in Bradford and has performed research for and served as consultant to several firms in diversified fields.

Dr. Liegey is a member of Sigma Pi Sigma physics honor society, Delta Epsilon Sigma national Catholic scholastic honor society and the Society for Microbiology, has been awarded two previous research grants and has written and published widely in his field.

Dr. Tackett before coming to Indiana University had been a member of the faculty at Arizona State University for four years and prior to that taught at Ohio State University, from which he received both bachelor of science in chemistry and doctor of philosophy in analytical chemistry degrees.

A veteran of the U. S. Air Force, Dr. Tackett has also served as consultant to the Air Force Office of Aerospace Research at Holloman Air Force Base (White Sands Missile Range) in New Mexico. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

For two years Dr. Tackett directed a visiting scientist program to all high schools in Arizona for the National Science Foundation and the Arizona Academy of Science; this involved more than 70 scientists in 15 academic areas. He too has published several different articles in his subject area.

Before joining the faculty at Indiana in 1963, Dr. Vowels had been a fiscal economist with the Office of Tax Analysis of the U. S. Treasury Department and an analytical statistician in the Economics Statistics Division of the Internal Revenue Service.

Receiving both bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Howard University, Dr. Vowels was a member of the faculty at that university for four years while he worked toward his doctor of philosophy degree at American University.

Indiana Granted Permission To Give Honorary Doctorates

Indiana University of Pennsylvania has recently been granted permission by the Department of Public Instruction of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to award honorary doctor of laws and doctor of letters degrees to those who may qualify, according to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the university.

In keeping with policies of the State Board of Education, such degrees will be awarded with "reasonable restraint" and only to those who have demonstrated through their contributions and achievements in their field that they have given "meritorious service to mankind."

Honorary degrees must be related to an educational program for which the university granting the degree has been fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Their granting must be governed by policy of the State Board of Education.

Colt-Packer Half-Time Show Features IUP Marching Band

Indiana University of Pennsylvania's University Marching Band appeared as featured halftime entertainment for the November 5 Baltimore Colt-Green Bay Packer professional National Football League (NFL) game played at Municipal Stadium in Baltimore.

Under the direction of Dan DiCicco, the 128-man marching band — the largest college or university band in the East — performed essentially the same halftime show as seen by Indiana fans at this past October's 1967 Homecoming game, that based on the Broadway musical score of "The Sound of Music."

The group played a total of seven selections from that score — "Do Re Mi," "How Can Love Survive?," "Maria," "Edelweiss," "So Long, Goodbye," "Climb Every Mountain" and the title tune "The Sound of Music," all accompanied by the band's traditionally fine precision marching and appropriate fanfares.

Charles A. Davis, music arranger for the band and regular season halftime and pre-game announcer, served in that same capacity for the Colt halftime show. Also playing a prominent role was associate director Gary Olmstead.

Although the Colt-Packer game was blacked out throughout the Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania area, the contest and halftime show were carried nationally by CBS Television.

Reports received from those who were able to see the game in Central and Eastern Pennsylvania say that the CBS camera and sound crews as well as announcers cut away from only one one-minute part of the show for a mid-half commercial and that their comments on the band were highly favorable.

It is estimated that literally millions of people throughout the nation who have had no previous contact with Indiana University of Pennsylvania in any way viewed the Colt-Packer halftime show on television and thus became aware for the first time of the university. Mr. DiCicco stated a few days ago that he had received congratulatory messages from all parts of the country.

The band was also accorded the privilege by the Baltimore Colt Band, which plays prior to all Colt games and during all timeouts, of playing for two such timeouts during the second quarter of the game. They took advantage of this opportunity to do "Mr. Touchdown" and "Music to Watch Girls By."

While the capacity crowd of 60,238 who turned out to see the Colts defeat the Packers 13-10 in the final minute of play were filing out of the stadium, the band struck up an informal post-game show of "Sing, Sing, Sing," "Temptation" and "Gotham City" and then marched out of the stadium in closed ranks.

Providing the budget which made this trip possible was the Student Cooperative Association of the university. But a great part of that cost was absorbed by Slater Food Service, which holds the total food service contract at the university, through arrangements made by campus director John Scanlan.

Slater provided the contingent of approximately 140 with box lunches on boarding the buses at 5 p.m. Saturday, snacks on arriving in Baltimore at 11 that night and fried chicken dinners before departing from Municipal Stadium at 5 p.m. Sunday. The band arrived back in Indiana at 11 Sunday night.

In charge of arrangements for Slater on the Baltimore end was Ray Miller, a 1965 Indiana University graduate and former University Marching Band member who was employed by Slater at the university for five years and who is now in charge of all food services at McDonough School for Boys in Baltimore.

Alumna Named Teacher Of The Year

Miss Virginia Randolph, B.S. 1948, M.Ed. 1958, has been named "Teacher of the Year" by the Junior Women's Civic Club of Indiana, Pennsylvania.

By honoring Miss Randolph as a symbol of the teaching profession, members of the Civic Club hope to show their thanks and appreciation to all educators for their fine work, a Club spokesman said.

Miss Randolph, who is presently a first grade teacher at Indiana's Horace Mann School, was presented a hand engraved scroll and a gift at the Club's regular meeting on November 21.

A veteran teacher with 20 years experience, she began her teaching career in the first grade at Lower Burrell Township near New Kensington, Pa. In addition to her studies at Indiana, she did graduate work at Penn State and the University of Pittsburgh.

She is very active in civic and professional organizations and holds important offices in several of them. In spite of this, she still finds time for some bowling and traveling, two of her many interests.

President Willis E. Pratt Appointed To Fulbright Scholarship Committee

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed to the Pennsylvania State Fulbright Scholarship Committee for 1967, according to Dr. David H. Kurtzman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Committee is composed of individuals in the Commonwealth with an interest or involvement in higher education. The group reviews application materials of college graduates in the Commonwealth who are seeking financial grants for study abroad.

A meeting of the Committee was held on November 27, 1967 in Harrisburg for the purpose of reviewing applications forwarded by Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Four candidates for State Scholarship Awards will then be recommended to the Institute of International Education, which does the final screening.

Awards under the Fulbright-Hays Act are part of the international education and cultural exchange program of the U. S. Government, the objectives of which are to promote, through the exchange of persons, the knowledge and skills, better understanding of the U. S. abroad, and to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U. S. and those of other countries.

Alumni And McManus Fountains Dedicated On Homecoming Day

Two fountains which have recently been erected on the Indiana University of Pennsylvania campus, the Rose Brennan McManus Memorial near Stabley Library and the Alumni near Weyandt Hall, were formally dedicated Saturday morning, October 7, 1967, as the university celebrated its annual Homecoming.

Dedication ceremonies, which were simple and dignified in tribute to the late Mrs. McManus as well as to those making construction of the fountains possible, were held at the McManus Memorial fountain. A number of friends and relatives were present for the occasion.

The brief dedication service was presided over by Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson, president of the General Alumni Association and Dean of the School of Continuing and Nonresident Education at the university. Arrangements were in charge of Dr. Nicholson and Mary L. Esch, association executive secretary.

The two fountains were recently erected on campus at a total cost of more than $15,000, the McManus Memorial through the contribution of the many friends of Mrs. McManus and the Alumni through allocation from the Annual Giving Fund. Mrs. Ward C. Johnson, chairman of the Projects Committee, guided arrangements.

Both fountains have been extremely well received by university students, faculty members and alumni as well as townspeople of the Indiana area community and occasional visitors to campus as a very real complement to the already beautiful campus area.

Mrs. McManus, who passed away in May of 1966, had been very active in university alumni affairs, serving both as president of the General Alumni Association for a term and as president of the Pittsburgh Unit. For her service, she was honored with the Tenth Annual Alumni Citation in 1963.

A 1918 graduate of the then Indiana Normal School, Mrs. McManus received this award together with her sister Helen M. Brennan for having "evidenced outstanding service to the ideals for which Indiana University stands through their contributions to education in general and to the university specifically."

A graduate of Braddock High School before attending Indiana, Mrs. McManus went on to receive her bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Duquesne University and also did post-graduate work at Columbia University, the University of Southern California and Harvard University.

She began teaching in the Braddock public schools and later in Pittsburgh elementary and junior high schools. She was also a member of the Duquesne University Alumni Association, Women's Guild of Duquesne University, Gaelic Arts Society of Pittsburgh, International Federation of Catholic Alumnae and Friends of the Christian Arts.

At the time of the granting of the Alumni Citation in 1963, it was written: "Both sisters have given unsparingly of their time to various causes in education in Pennsylvania over a considerable number of years.

"Their service to their undergraduate college at (the then) Indiana State College has been of inestimable value to the College at Indiana and to the Alumni Association. Through the years they have been unswervingly loyal to the best ideal of Indiana State College."

Visiting Scientists Program Sponsored By Chemistry Department

In hopes of stimulating closer contact and cooperation between the university and area high schools, the Chemistry Department of Indiana University of Pennsylvania is sponsoring for the second year, a Visiting Scientists Program for all high schools of Pennsylvania.

With presentations given completely free of charge to the schools, programs will be presented by faculty members of the department at the request of high school science teachers and will consist of a formal lecture-demonstration to a class or other group such as a science club.

Topics for class discussion include modern chemical developments as well as some of the more important classical ones. It is hoped that these demonstrations and presentations will prove stimulating and informative and that they will illustrate effective use of such methods and modern visual resources.

The visiting professor will also be available at the school for answering student questions about preparation for college, group or individual discussions with students and teachers and other related purposes as requested by the particular school visited.

A list of a dozen such visiting scientists has been prepared listing their position, educational background, special areas of research and interest, topics for presentation and days available. This has been mailed in booklet form to all science teachers of the area.

Anyone interested in more information concerning the Visiting Scientists Program as presented by the university should write Dr. Stanford L. Tackett, Chemistry Department, Weyandt Hall, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Pennsylvania 15701.

PCTE Names English Dept. Chairman VP For Colleges And Universities

Dr. James R. Green, chairman of the English Department at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, was elected vice president for colleges and universities at the annual conference of the Pennsylvania Council of Teachers of English (PCTE) held at Pennsylvania State University Friday and Saturday, October 27-28, 1967.

A second member of the IUP English Department, Mr. Lorrie J. Bright, was appointed chairman of the Council's standing committee on censorship and book selection, established by the Council as an informative and investigative body for English teachers and librarians.

Both Green and Bright have been active in PCTE activities for a number of years, Dr. Green as a member of various committees and program participant at the organization's conferences, and Mr. Bright in the professional activities of elementary language arts, as well as secondary and college teachers of English.

The section meeting on Censorship was addressed by another member of the English staff at IUP, Professor Edward L. Anderson. Dr. Anderson spoke on the history of literary censorship in the U. S. A. in general and Pennsylvania in particular and the implications of such censorship for the classroom teacher.

Also attending the conference were a number of other members of the university English staff, as well as elementary and secondary teachers from many of the local school districts, several of whom were named members of the Committee on Censorship and Book Selection.

Included in this committee were: Mrs. Marge Taylor, Marion Center High School librarian, Mr. Anthony Petrarcha, Vandergrift High School English teacher, Mrs. Winnie Bernat, sixth grade teacher at Benjamin Franklin Elementary School, and Mr. Terry Wansor, English instructor in the Greensburg Area Schools.

Approved at the PCTE annual conference were a number of Resolutions, including the following:

1. That teachers of English be assigned no more than 100 pupils divided into four sections, and that college teachers of composition be assigned not more than two sections of twenty students each.

2. That local school administrators and Boards of Education make it possible for teachers of English to attend national, state, regional and local meetings set up by the Council and its affiliates without loss of pay and that local school districts be urged to contribute to the expenses incurred by teachers who attend such meetings and conferences, and that college administrators establish a more generous policy for support of attendance of college personnel at such conferences.

3. That local school administrators and Boards of Education give to their teachers complete freedom in the selection of books which, in their considered judgment, are desirable and worthy of inclusion in the curricula of the schools of the Commonwealth, and that college teachers of literature be given the freedom of responsible choice in the selection of reading materials for their respective courses.

PCTE is an affiliate of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Big Indians Finish 1967 Season With Eight Wins And One Defeat

By Pete Young, Student Assistant for Sports Information

Only California State College stood in the way of Indiana University of Pennsylvania chalking up a perfect nine win and no loss campaign as the Big Indians recently completed their 1967 season with eight victories against just one defeat, a 27-20 decision to the Vulcans of California.

Previous to this battle the Warriors of head coach Chuck Klausning had reeled off seven straight wins. Among these seven victories relatively easy triumphs came over Delaware State 16-0, Shippensburg State 24-14, Edinboro State 19-0 and Slippery Rock State 23-7.

On the other hand, the Maroon and Slate charges of coach Klausning experienced some tight decisions in these first seven contests. The closest decisions came over Frederick 9-7 and Clarion 17-15, while against C. W. Post Indiana had to rally in the second half to win 32-24.

Against Frederick the Braves experienced a frustrating afternoon before pulling out the battle on a touchdown pass from Jerry Will to John Blasko on the last play of the game. Against the Pioneers of C. W. Post, Indiana had to overcome a 10-0 deficit at halftime to win.

And finally, in one of the most memorable contests ever played at IUP's George Miller Stadium, the Big Indians sent nationally-rated Clarion State down to defeat for the first time in two years. The Golden Eagles almost had the game wrapped up, but Wally Blucas led the Tribe to a late score to end Clarion's 15 game winning streak.

However, Indiana made its best offensive showing of the year in its last encounter of the campaign against Lock Haven State. The game followed the loss at California, and the Indians, eager for revenge, completely routed the Bald Eagles in a wave of scoring 49-14.

Besides tallying its highest score of the year, the IUP offense of assistant coaches Bill McDonald and Mickey Watson recorded season highs with a total of 24 first downs and 435 yards. In addition, the first team defensive unit of assistants Ed Receski and Owen Dougherty permitted Lock Haven only one touchdown while intercepting three aerals.

On the season, the Braves scored respectfully well. They were not shut out in a single contest and tallied 209 points for an average of 23.7 or nearly four touchdowns a game. On the other hand, the defense surrendered only 108 points to the opposition, an average of 12 points a game.

Although gaining more yardage through the air, the Tribe stayed on the ground for more than two-thirds of their plays. Sophomore tailback Dan Cox accounted for the greater part of the team total of 1324 yards with 706 yards in 194 attempts for an average of 3.6 yards a carry.

His finest performance was against Lock Haven when he rushed for 122 yards in 25 carries and scored four touchdowns and an extra point for a total of 26 points, more than half the team's total 49 for the day. In addition to his rushing, Cox also lead the Warriors in all scoring with 56 points.

Two other sophomores, quarterback Blucas and fullback Joe Kovalchick, figured high in Indiana's running attack this season. The former compiled 263 yards, including a 54 yard scamper against Slippery Rock, while the latter tallied 181 yards in just 45 carries. Junior tailback Bill Murray alternated with Cox frequently and gained 199 yards.

To balance his running game, coach Klausing developed an excellent passing attack which completed 93 of 199 passes for 1418 yards and 12 touchdowns. Twice the Big Indians amassed over 200 yards in the air in a single game, 223 against Slippery Rock and 248 against Lock Haven.

Junior quarterback Will led the team in this department with 58 of 120 passes completed for 736 yards and four touchdowns. He especially had successful afternoons against Slippery Rock, nine of 11 completions for 95 yards, Frederick, 16 of 32 passes completed for 188 yards, and Lock Haven, 13 of 21 completions for 182 yards.

Blucas also had his outstanding games playing quarterback for Indiana. His finest day came against Clarion when he connected on nine of 20 passes for 160 yards and directed the Tribe to its 17-15 victory. The sophomore also performed well against Edinboro, completing six of 11 passes for 121 yards.

In the pass receiving corps, Indiana had four men finish in double figures. Tri-captain Gary Milanovich regained his sophomore year form by grabbing 28 passes for 489 yards. Milanovich also caught the longest pass of the season, a 66 yard toss from Will for a touchdown against California.

Ray Peters finished second in the pass receiving corps with 24 catches for 342 yards. The senior wingback had his best game against Lock Haven when he recorded seven receptions for 87 yards. His alternate, Dick Draganac, pulled in 11 passes for 183 markers.

Indiana's other starting end, tri-captain Blasko, finished right behind Peters with 23 receptions for 305 yards and five touchdowns. Besides scoring game winning touchdowns against Frederick and Clarion, the senior caught a 56 yard pass from Blucas against Slippery Rock.

The Indiana defense turned in another outstanding performance this year, setting up 12 of IUP's 29 total touchdowns. The secondary was especially brilliant, picking off 21 passes, of which eight lead to offensive scores. Leading the backfield was Barry Ruffner with six interceptions and Paul Murphy and Jerry Clark each with five.

Klausing will lose seven seniors from his squad by way of graduation, but three of them, Milanovich, Blasko, and Peters, made up the bulk of his pass receiving corps. Tackle Chuck Harris, who played consistently all season and was one of Indiana's best linemen, is the only other offensive player graduating.

Defensively, Indiana's losses will not be as severe, as only two regulars will have to be replaced. Murphy, the team's remaining tri-captain, leaves after four years of play, and Ray Tomb, a starting tackle, departs after three seasons of varsity football. Bob Stranko, a backup linebacker, is the seventh senior.

Prospects for next season look bright considering who will return. The offense will be able to field eight regulars, while defensively Indiana will have nine starters returning. In addition, several other lettermen from this campaign will be available for competition.

Offensively, the entire backfield returns for Warriors. Signal callers Will and Blucas are more experienced, while setbacks Cox, Murray, Kovalchick and Chuck Frederick will all be ready for 1968. Draganac, the team's starting wingback this year, completes the backfield.

On the line will be Bob Prokay at tackle, Dale Hall, Gene Pawlow-ski and Jon Henry at guard and Sam Patti and Bob Strouse at center. Returning defensive regulars up front will include ends Joel Heimlich, Jack Neptune and Jim Dotson, tackle Tony Ferrari and middle guard Walt Poleski.

The secondary with the exception of Murphy is well off for next year. Clark, Ruffner and Stan Gutshall will be the returning lettermen with several others who saw limited action to back them up. At linebacker, Indiana will have again its two excellent lettermen, Bob Tate and Al Dellavechio.

Add to this the fact that the freshman football team of Indiana University compiled a five win and one loss season, losing only to Clarion in its opener 3-0, and all indications point to another highly successful season for Klausing and the Big Indians next year.

IUP American Chemical Society Chapter Among Most Outstanding In Nation

According to word recently received by Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, the university's chapter of the American Chemical Society has been honored as among the 64 most outstanding campus organizations within that national society.

Each year the Council Committee on Chemical Education selects for such special commendation those chapters from among a total of 475 nationally which have compiled outstanding records during the year. This is part of a program aimed at developing attitudes of professionalism among students interested in chemistry as a career.

Among projects which the Indiana chapter sponsored last year which warranted them this recognition were two "short courses" in the area of chemistry to which were invited area high school teachers, students and industrialists.

Meeting two successive nights to discuss Electrochemical Analysis and Instrumentation in Biochemical Systems for an hour and a half each night, the courses drew an average attendance of 65. Believed to be unique on a national level, two more short courses will be sponsored this year.

Chapter members also performed specific scientific demonstrations for area high school classes as requested. Any area high school teacher of chemistry may request that the organization send a delegation of students supervised by a faculty member to perform such demonstrations.

For monthly meeting programs, the society brought five different chemists to campus to speak on specific areas and sponsored a field trip to Numac Scientific in Apollo. John Swansiger was last year selected to deliver a paper to the society's Pittsburgh Section meeting at St. Francis College.

Socially, the society campus chapter took the responsibility for sponsoring a Weyandt Hall First Birthday Party in hopes that this might become an annual event. And this past Homecoming the organization constructed a parade float as the first academic department to do so in several years.

Adviser to the university's American Chemical Society is Dr. Ronald L. Marks, a member of the Chemistry Department faculty. Current president is Orrin Boyd Miller, a senior from Latrobe. Department chairman is Dr. Paul R. Wunz, Jr.

School Of Business Initiates Program In Distributive Education

The School of Business has initiated a new curriculum in Distributive Education to become effective during the school year 1968-69. This new area of concentration represents an addition to the Business Management program and the program in Business Education.

According to A. E. Drumheller, Dean of the School of Business, this new department is designed to prepare students for a professional teaching career in the distributive occupations. Students following this program will be graduated as Teacher-Coordiators of Distributive Education and will be also certified to teach certain courses in business education.

Teaching in the field of distributive education combines the personal satisfaction of teaching with the enjoyment of public relations work in the distribution area of business — retailing, wholesaling, and service enterprises. Distributive Education presents a promising future for persons in the teaching profession. With the recognition of the importance of distribution to our national economy, this vocational field of teaching is expanding rapidly.

Dr. J. K. Stoner, Chairman of the Business Education Department, will be the Teacher-Educator in this new department. Once the Distributive Education program becomes established, a full-time teacher-educator will be employed for this department.

Activities of the Units and Groups

INSTANO 1912

Twenty members, one adopted, and a guest, were present at the Instano 12 luncheon at the Top of the Towers, Pittsburgh Gateway on November 4. The luncheon table was beautifully decorated with baskets of colorful fruits, vegetables and leaves, by Helen Brennan, together with lovely place cards made by Mary Bert Kincaid's daughter. Mabel M. Zehner was the efficient chairman for the day, and contributed her own fudge. Each member carried some fruit or a vegetable home from the fruit baskets.

After lunch, letters were read, some regrets, some newsy. Nellie Ramsay Cooper wrote of visits she enjoyed from classmates, and said her home in Mount Pleasant is open to all.

Edith McWherter wrote from her Florida home and mentioned the delightful May luncheon. Florence Wallace retired from the teaching staff at the University in May, but has returned temporarily to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation. Edith Salisbury Miller has returned from a sixty-two day safari in Africa.

Edith Buchanan Wolfenden and husband had a visit to Russia this year, and will leave shortly for their winter home in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Verne Martin McKee has returned from her visit to Turkey and European spots.

The Sunday Press Magazine of August 13 carried an article by Margaret Carlin relating to Mary Himler, 1912, as Latrobe's No. 1 Arts Buff.

We are happy to know that Sara Stockhouse Esch's daughter, Marjorie, is well on the way to recovery following a serious illness. Marjorie is principal of the School for Blind Children.

Helen Brennan gave a report on the proceedings of the Retired Teachers Convention.

We noted with regret the death of classmate, Dr. Arthur Stull.

The committee for May, 1968, is Sara Jones and Ruth Galer Reimer. The place, The Fairfax.

Our adopted member is Marjorie Galer, sister of Ruth and Adeline. She is an Indiana graduate of later years and quite a welcome addition to our group.

Our guest was Mrs. Humphrey from New Kensington, who accompanied Zula Miller Henry.

All members of 1912 are welcome to join us.

PITTSBURGH UNIT

Our September meeting was well attended with thirty-nine members present.

Many of our teachers spent the summer in travel and a more than usual number spent theirs in the hospital. Gladys Elcessor, standing in for Betty Piper, gave an account of what exciting things to expect for the coming year.

At our October meeting, which was well attended also, Miss Jackson, our new treasurer, gave an interesting summary of her vacation in Norway. She really was thrilled with the magnificent scenes along the coast and in the fiords.

Homecoming as usual was most rewarding. The memory of our dear member and friend, Rose McManus, will linger long. A fountain was presented to the University with a beautiful ceremony at which time Rose's sister, Helen Brennan, spoke so tenderly. We will love our fountain which cherishes the memory of Rose.

We were saddened by the death of one of our past presidents, Betty Piper, who died October 10 in Columbia Hospital.

NEW YORK UNIT

The members of the New York Unit had a Dutch Treat Luncheon, October 28, 1967 in the "1899 Room" of the Brass Rail Restaurant at 521 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

An election was held and the following officers were elected: Mr. Oran Overly, President; Mr. Warren M. Christman, 1st Vice President; Mr. Guy H. Foster, 2nd Vice President; Mrs. Irene Barchie Suddaby, Secretary; Mrs. Bessie

Wherry Noe, Treasurer.

News of Homecoming Day, the dedication of the fountains, the Executive Board meeting were enthusiastically related by Bessie Wherry Noe who as President had been the Unit's delegate. She was grateful for the hospitality of the university and the joy of meeting the Alumni Association officers who are helping to carry out the dream of a great university. She hopes all alumni will help bring the dream to fruition.

PHILADELPHIA UNIT

On the afternoon of November 5, 1967, the fall meeting of the Philadelphia Unit was held at the colonial home of President Mrs. Carmon (Read) Ross in Doylestown.

The meeting began with business followed by a discussion of how to reach the younger graduates in the Philadelphia area. This continued for a time, with comment on former meetings at which were tried various schemes with meagre results. New suggestions were made for places and forms of entertainment to lure this younger group. Secret—unless something works to drag graduates away from TV, children's activities, and other forms of entertainment, the unit will "fold up."

After sandwiches, deviled eggs, muffins, delicious cake, and coffee, Harry Hoehler regaled the group with humorous stories in Pennsylvania Dutch.

Dr. H. Ronald Huber (1952), Superintendent of Central Bucks County School District addressed the group. Two points in Dr. Huber's talk were: place more graduates in the Eastern part of Pennsylvania, and hold fast to some of the fine things of Indiana when it was a smaller institution, such as the good relationship between fraternities and sororities.

All too soon, it was time to be homeward bound after assuring Betty that she had given us another good meeting.

PITTSBURGH-NORTH BOROUGH'S UNIT

The fall season of our Unit got off to a fine start with a luncheon at a private dining room in Kaufmann's on Saturday morning, September 9, at 12:30.

After a delightful session of good food with happy, friendly, chattering among the friends, who had been apart from each other all summer, our president, Miss Catherine Taylor, conducted the business meeting. Miss Louise Crooks, the recording secretary, presented the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. Adele G. Bauer, the chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the coming year, and conducted the election, with the following results: president, Catherine Taylor, vice president, Mrs. Juliette D. Meyer, treasurer, Miss Margaret Allen, secretary, Miss Louise Crooks, and publicity chairman, Mrs. Lillie L. Herman. Mrs. Clara A. Plank and Mrs. Verne M. McKee were named to serve as the hospitality committee.

During the meeting thank you notes were read from our shut-ins, and cards were signed by all present to those who are ill, shut-in, or were not able to attend our meeting.

The Unit will be represented at our University's Homecoming on October 7 by Miss Taylor as secretary of the General Alumni Association, Mrs. Adelaide R. Clarke, as a past president of the general association, Mrs. Meiser as our vice president, and Mrs. Herman as a delegate.

The tentative schedule of events for the year includes: Nov. 18, a luncheon and card party benefit at the "Chuck Wagon" at "Kater's Korner," March 9, a luncheon and business meeting at Kaufmanns and the second Saturday in May a luncheon at the College Club, with Miss Helen Falkenstein in charge of place of meeting.

Those in charge of the Nov. 18 meeting are chairman Catherine Taylor, favors, Fannie Baird and Helen Hutchinson, with Adele Bauer, Mildred Pauch and Fanny Baird assisting with all arrangements.

Dues for the year were received and membership cards distributed.

1917 REUNION

Our Class of 1917 enjoyed a most pleasant Golden Anniversary Reunion during the weekend of May 26-28, 1967 on the campus of our Alma Mater, Indiana University of Pennsylvania. However, the busy planning stage took place months before, when our secretary, Verall Debor, kindly invited our president, Charles Ruffner, and a few other classmates to her apartment. There, over a lovely luncheon, plans were made for our 50th Reunion.

Several of our 1917 Class arrived on Friday in time for the Executive Council Meeting of our Alumni Association that evening. After that meeting adjourned, a friendly gathering was held in Wahr Hall where we were comfortably housed for the weekend.

Our numbers increased with an influx of more 1917 graduates who arrived in time to join us at the 10 A.M. Alumni Meeting in John S. Fisher Auditorium on Saturday. Additional members came for the Alumni Luncheon that day at 12:15 in the huge air-conditioned Foster Hall Dining Room. There, our very own Flossie Wagner Sanford was awarded the 1967 Alumni Citation for outstanding service. How proud we were as we gazed and listened to charming, gracious Flossie as she gave her interesting and well delivered acceptance speech entitled "Reunion Class Memories!!" What nostalgic feelings that speech brought to our minds! Since special tables were provided for the reuning classes, our 1917 tables were soon filled. As each reunion class was given an opportunity to have some member speak briefly, we were happy to have Charles Ruffner, our capable class president, speak for the Class of 1917.

About 3 P.M., our members met informally in the Blue Room of John Sutton Hall, where we elected new officers, paused to honor our deceased members, chatted for awhile, exchanged Instano books with classmates for autographing, and collected $100 to present to the Flossie Wagner Sanford Scholarship Fund. When the photographer arrived, we gathered on the East Porch steps for a group picture. Regretfully, some of our members who came just for the daylight hours, had to leave.

The highlight of our reunion weekend was our Golden Anniversary Dinner on Saturday night at the new nearby Holiday Inn on Route 119. There, in a comfortably air conditioned private dining room with beautiful flower-decked tables, 75 members and guests were served a delicious meal. We were pleased to have as our distinguished guests Doctor and Mrs. Willis Pratt, Miss Mary Esch, and Miss Marianne Baumbach, our beloved German teacher.

Class president, Charles Ruffner, welcomed us. The blessing was offered by Attorney Robert Carson. An interesting program followed with colorful slides being used to show the many fine new campus buildings. Audrey Smith Graham spoke appropriately about our outstanding Citee and her accomplishments. Flossie Wagner Sanford made a pleasing response. Gladys Elcessor read one of her original poems "Retrospection" written especially for our reunion.

Messages from absent members were read by the planning committees. Awarding of amusing prizes in various frivolous categories followed. Charles Ruffner presented the newly elected officers, thanked all those who helped in making our reunion successful, and urged all of us to return for our 55th gala reunion in 1972.

On Sunday morning many of us had breakfast at the cafeteria in the basement of Foster Hall. Here we enjoyed a final chat together before starting off for church services or for our homeward journey. All agreed that we had enjoyed a delightful Golden Anniversary Reunion. With deep and warm concern for our fellow classmates and our Alma Mater, we all promised that we would do all in our power to be present at our 55th reunion in 1972.

ANNUAL GIVING FUND

The Annual Giving Committee desires to again express its sincere appreciation to those who contributed to the 1966-67 fund drive. Contributions totaled $9,125, an increase of more than $3,000 over the 1965-66 contributions. Individual contributions ranged in amounts from $1 to $300 with an average contribution of $7, including several contributions of $50, $100, and $200.

During the year gifts from the Annual Giving Fund were made to the University to cover the cost of the Weyandt Hall Fountain; in June, 1967, a gift of $1,000 was given for the establishment of the University Foundation and another gift to the foundation was approved at the October 1967 Executive Council Meeting. In other action the association moved to reserve $7,000 to $10,000 for a carillon to be placed in the tower of John Sutton Hall in the very near future.

Students, Faculty And News Media Cited At ROTC Awards Ceremonies

Nine different students enrolled in the U. S. Army Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) program at Indiana University of Pennsylvania received individual awards Thursday, November 9, 1967 at George P. Miller Stadium to highlight the ROTC's twice yearly Awards Day ceremonies.

Each of these awards was granted to a cadet who it was felt should be recognized for his leadership abilities and superior performance in military training. A company award was also presented at that time to Company H as the ROTC's best drill company.

Preceding the Awards Day program, a testimonial luncheon was sponsored at Foster Dining Hall to recognize members of the faculty and the three area news media, The Indiana Evening Gazette, WDAD Radio and The Tribune-Democrat of Johnstown, "who have lent their active support to the ROTC."

Faculty members awarded First U. S. Army Certificates in Recognition of Outstanding Service were Dan DiCicco, Director of University Bands, who has given considerable help to the direction of the ROTC Military Band, and to Samuel F. Furgivele, university Director of Public Relations.

Accepting awards in behalf of the three media were Joseph Donnelly, managing editor of the Gazette, Ray Goss, general manager of WDAD, and Richard Mayer, publisher of the Tribune-Democrat. They were credited with doing much to implement a favorable image for Army ROTC at Indiana.

Also presented special citations were Dr. Albert J. Wahl, a member of the university History Department faculty, and Dr. Richard F. Waechter, member of the Biology Department faculty and past president of the Faculty Association, who visited the ROTC encampment at Indian-town Gap this past summer.

Presenting the awards at the luncheon was Lt. Col. Charles B. Stevenson, professor of military science and commandant of the corps at the university. Guests included Dr. Willis E. Pratt, university President, and Brig. Gen. James S. Gallagher, of Latrobe, of the 28th Division of the National Guard.

The presentation of awards was accompanied by the traditional color and pageantry of a military review, including the passing in review of the entire corps. The Kaydeens, the corps' women's auxiliary headed by Kaydeen Colonel Sharon Neff, a senior from Warriors Mark, participated in the review.

Following the ceremonies there was a reception for parents of cadets receiving the various awards, the outstanding cadets themselves, members of the ROTC staff and invited guests.

More Than 50,000 Persons On Hand For IUP Homecoming Activities

More than 50,000 persons were on hand for the Homecoming festivities held at Indiana University of Pennsylvania Saturday, October 7, 1967.

Highlighting the day-long activities was the annual parade of floats which this year had as its theme "Sounds of Music."

The parade, which featured 30 colorful floats and 27 marching bands, was dedicated to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, University president, his administrative officers and members of the Board of Trustees. Parade chairman again was Dr. Paul A. Risheberger.

Reigning over the festivities was Homecoming Queen Cookie Kopchick, junior elementary major from Saltsburg, Pennsylvania, who won the coveted title over 18 other beauties. Members of her court included Donna Dickie of Indiana, and Ramona Vezie of Washington, Pennsylvania.

Capturing first prize for its float, "The Lonely Bull," was Phi Mu sorority. Other prize winners included: Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, second, "Song of India;" Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, third, "I'll Follow the Sun;" Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, fourth, "Carousel;" Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, fifth, "The Pink Panther;" Alpha Sigma Tau sorority, sixth, "Madame Butterfly;" and Alpha Xi Delta sorority, seventh, "Baby Elephant Walk."

Morning activities included the meeting of the Executive Council of the General Alumni Association and the dedication of two fountains, one the Alumni Fountain near Weyandt Hall Science Complex, the second the Rose Brennan McManus Memorial Fountain located near the Rhodes R. Stabley Library.

Highlighting the afternoon activities was the crowd-thrilling Homecoming football game between Indiana's Big Indians and the Edinboro State College Highlanders, which Indiana won by a score of 19-0, much to the delight of the more than 12,000 fans who had crowded into George P. Miller Stadium for the game.

Half-time activities included the crowning of Queen Kopchick by Dr. Willis E. Pratt and the presentation of appreciation awards to Dr. Pratt and members of the Board of Trustees by the IUP Student Government Association. Performing on the field was Daniel DiCicco's 128-man IUP Marching Band.

Following the football game, alumni and friends were invited to a "Keg Party" at Foster Dining Hall by the Campus Alumni Unit of the General Alumni Association.

Evening activities included the presentation of a musical, "The Amorous Flea," to a capacity crowd at Fisher Auditorium under the co-direction of Robert Ensley and Charles Davis.

Also featured in the evening were a dance for the students at the University Lodge, a buffet-dance at the Student Union, and the annual Homecoming dance for alumni and friends at the Country Club.
